Project 60 – Desert Canyon

“RATTLE SNAKES CAUSE GOLF COURSE TO CLOSE!!”

Ted and Ena must have charmed them critters away! The Stomp went on without being overrun by the pesky critters. A shed skin and a reported sighting by Joan Chaplik was the extent of the wild life intrusion. Was that just wine you were drinking, Joan?

Our hosts, Ted and Ena, got us off to a great day of fun and adventure. Project 60 started under the beautiful blue skies on Sunday, Sept. 14, with a test of our putting skills. We were challenged on the 18 hole putting course with tricky pins and some adverse course playing conditions. The team of Vern Fox, Dave Leishman, Sonja Thorp, and Jack Fankhauser were able to master the challenge and take the honors. The team was rewarded with beautiful bag towels made and presented by Ena. Thanks Ena for the wonderful work!

Monday was another beautiful day. The course not only provided a worthy challenge but also provided some on of a kind views of the mighty Columbia and surroundings. After checking out the view the task at hand became a priority. Some reports came back that Hole #1 was never going to end. As usual some players chose to play without damaging the fairways. That rough was tough on the clubs. Many of us explored the course with little knowledge of what lies ahead, but a few had taken to pre-playing the course. I was told that one of our players had even taken to moving his trailer in with the ground crew to gain course knowledge. Any truth to that, Richard Lowell? John Carl claims to have bought Sue a new putter for the Sunday match, but I think he bought a new set of clubs for himself to “stomp” the field. Congratulations to John for taking low net and Richard shooting an 84 for low gross,

Dave and Wilma Leishman decided to swap trophies as Wilma bested the field with both low net and low gross. Luckily Dave bought the four year bonus package with the engraver! Look out next year! Way to go Wilma!

On Monday after golf, we held our business meeting. Our founder, Jack Frisk was unable to attend and was greatly missed. Charter members Bob and Bonnie Warnecke were also not in attendance. Also missing were regulars Don and Sally West and Gary and Sue Smith. We hope all will be able to join us on the next outing. The highlight of the meeting was Burt Haskins trying to work out special arrangements with Cay Bell and Ena for collecting their fines. They seemed to have worked it out without total embarrassment to all! Our fine collection will be donated this month to Breast Cancer Research.

Next years' hosts Bill and Linda Parker and Richard and Donna Lowell reported that work is still in progress for next years' outings.

Ted and Ena had lined up a great menu over at the restaurant. I don't think anyone left either night feeling hungry. Great food and snacks!

Tuesday's golf presented more challenges and trips to the rough. Chuck Strub said he preferred the natural turf as opposed to the green grass! After the dust had settled, the winning team of Sonja Thorp, Vern Fox, Gary Smith and myself came away with the victory on the scramble. Gary telecommunicated on his part and did a great job.

Happy Holidays and a warm winter for some. See you next year at a place and time to be announced.

Keep on Putting

No records broken
We need a long putt from a women

Some things that were out of the norm

I didn't write anything down and forgot what was talked about
Lynn Bloss was the only women to birdie a hole and she did it on 10
